FRIDAY, JAN. 3, 1908.

Good bye 1907. While it has been a year of many misfortunes and calamities, it has also been a year of many sunshines and refreshing showers, and a year of bountiful harvest. All hail 1908! May it be a Happy New Year to all.

There are thousands of acres of land in Weymouth which has not been used for years and we welcome the new organization "Grange of Husbandry" which has started under favorable auspices at South Weymouth. There is more in Weymouth land than the present generation has dreamed of.

St. Louis papers of this week report the Missouri river open to navigation to the Rocky mountains, and St. Paul papers report the Mississippi open to that point, a condition never known before at this time of the year; and with us, in places where we were cutting ten inches of ice a year ago, not a particle of ice was in sight on New Year's morning.

It is estimated that Chicago's prospective big hotel can be built for half a million dollars less than it could have been done when the plans were drawn, owing to the reduction in price of building material. Let us hope the tidal wave of reduction will come this way before spring and Weymouth capitalists will build houses for those who are waiting for them.

In speaking of industrial training at a recent meeting, our secretary of the State Board of Education is reported to have said, "We have an overabundance of book learning without any actual practical training." The secretary was speaking of general principles as schools are run today, as another leading educator has said, "Too heavy at the top." The tendency is to crowd the scholars through the lower grades and rush them to the High school, and at the end of four years they know what?

Once again the flag which indicates that the Legislature of Massachusetts is in session floats over the gilded dome on Beacon hill. The Governor has been inaugurated and his message delivered to the assembled legislators. The inaugural message rivals that of the President of the United States in length and when all of the suggestions are considered and the thousand or more of other matters which have been, and will be presented by the members disposed of it will be time to do haying.

There are other municipalities than Weymouth and we copy the following from the last issue of the Hyde Park Gazette, for the purpose of showing up any dark side of our flourishing neighborhood, to call the attention of the voters of Weymouth to our coming March meeting. There have been some sad mistakes in 1907 and the end is not yet. Every citizen should carefully study all the financial and business interests of the town and go to that meeting so well informed that he will not come away saying "I was deceived" or "I did not know how to vote."

"Elsewhere will be found the warrant for the special town meeting to be held in Waverly Hall, Thursday, Jan. 2, at 7:30 p.m. Containing the tax list, the financial condition of the town, every citizen who has any interest in the town's welfare and intent to be present, should read this document. Of the others have for the time being voted, if there have for the previous year or additional appropriation of the town's money, and it is to these questions that we invite special attention. In the new year the town will meet which has already voted to build grade crossings, sewer and water construction, Metropolitan park assessments, and other legitimate burdens, it is almost impossible for any of them have for the additional expenditure of money unless absolutely needed for the proper conduct of the town's affairs. The town does not need to be penurious, but it needs to be just, and it is the duty of every citizen to bear heavily upon every one-rich and poor alike. The town meeting is the place to set the seal of condemnation upon every effort to reach the treasury, and we hope there will be a large attendance and a revolt against every unnecessary appropriation."

Dr. Hale on Woman's Work.

In his Monthly Talk in the Woman's Home Companion Dr. Edward Everett Hale says:

"Will you please to remember that the bottom rock of American success is the habit or determination that every place, village, town, neighborhood, no matter where you call it, shall have its rule? If I and my wife should want to have a road and a bridge which shall go back to the rhododendron swamp, we build the road and we build the bridge with such help as we can get from Mrs. Tucker or from Mr. Chapman, and we do not write to a sub-project who writes to a project who writes to an assistant Commandant who writes to an Intendent who writes to a secretary of engineers who sends word to us from the seat of government whether we may build it. Lift where you stand expresses the foundation principle, the sub soll, the hard pan, the bed rock of American life."

"Now, a very queer thing has developed in the evolution of this principle. It has proved that where the men of the country have been too busy, or have thought they were, to attend to their own affairs, the women have been able to attend to them better than the men do."

"Take this business which I have referred to, of a neighborhood library, feeding a region of no more than four or five thousand people. The affairs of that library, if they are well conducted, are conducted by the women of the neighborhood. They know what their children want, they know what their husbands need. And it is very fortunate for the neighborhood and the library that they can harness the horses and can drive themselves to the meetings of trustees and select the books and tell Miss Dorcas how many she may buy."

WEYMOUTH HISTORY.

An Abstract of Town Records From the Earliest Settlement.

CHAPTER XVII.

At the general town meeting in March, 1691, Lieut. Reed, Capt. White, Eleazar White, Abiah Whitman, Capt. Hunt, John Smith senior & John Smith elected Selectmen.

The town was now nearly 20 years old and still had but one church, and one school for this year voted to continue Mr. Chard as teacher with a salary of 200 pounds and use of the house, garden, orchard and income from the flats. For the minister's maintenance the rate was 1090 1/2d of which 50c were to go to the sexton for ringing the bell and sweeping the meeting house.

Voted to pay Mr. Drake fifteen shillings per month for keeping the one town paper. Settled with Capt. White for keeping the Town's powder and shot.

We would here answer some questions which we are often asked—"Why so many military titles and why so much powder and bullets?" We for today little realize the condition of those times. We read about our frontier and the border line, and the seat of the border or King Philip's War? Men went to the field with the bow in one hand and the tomahawk in the other. They went to church carrying their trusty muskets, and never rested at night without putting new priming in the pan and repecking the flint of the musket. Weymouth had its mounted cavalry and its marching infantry and the situation may be better understood by reading the following reply of Capt. Torrey to the Governor in a demand for more troops:

"To the much honored Governor and Council in Boston. The humble petition of the Committee of Militia for Weymouth.

"Humblye sheweth, that your poor petitioners have this morning received a warrant from the honorable Major for the impressing of six able men fitted for service both with arms, ammunition, and provision, which we shall endeavor to do, and in the execution of said warrant, but we most humbly beseeche your honors to consider of our present distressed and distracted condition, who when we are most, are but a small company, and we have ten men out already, and have the enemy appearing daily at our very doors, four killed by the enemy, steadily, all in danger wheresoever we go, unlike to have any help from any other, in expectation every day and hour, of being assaulted, stand continually upon our guard, where by piping is obstructed, and all things turning into confusion and destruction, not knowing how to dispose of our cattle, which were wont to go into the woods, now cannot; they will starve us, or we shall starve them, and this is a little of our deplorable condition."

"The average boy fills his place as well as the average business man," said George H. Martin, secretary of the board of education, adding, "and that's not saying much." He made a strong plea for the co-operation of employer and employee, blaming much of the incompetency in business to an overreliance of learning without any actual practical training. To this he traced lack of interest on the part of the youth, resulting in a blunted sense of moral obligation. "In ancient Greece, culture and civil responsibility were highly developed," he said; "in the middle ages, technical skill. The combination of these three qualities is our task today. Industrial education is essential for the preservation of civilization."

"A colored servant, whom her mistress had tried to wash, was reproved for not sweeping neatly. 'You can't get algebra and clean corners into the same nigger,' was her reply. Our problem is to get algebra and clean corners into the white boys of the North. That we shall succeed I have no doubt."

"Wherefore our humble petition and request to your Honors, is, that if you cannot afford us any help, for the preservation of our lives, which now are in danger (and which is the only thing we have care of) that you will please to pity us, and so far to lend an ear to our humble request, as that our men now impressed, may be discharged and returned to us again, and we hope shall receive respectfully acknowledgement, as a great favor and service to your honored humble servants."

"Wm. Torrey, in the name of, and by the order of the Committee of Militia for Weymouth."

March meeting, 1691. Wm. Chard was elected Town Clerk, Edward Bates, Alert Whitman, Sergt. Thomas Reed, William Torrey, James Lovell senior, Joseph Dyer and Nathaniel Humphrey Selectmen.

By order of the Selectmen the following persons were warned to leave town in the month of April and May of the year 1691: Alia Blancher, Thomas Mayer, Widow Benson, Elias Monk, an inmate at Samuel Holbrook's & Cornelius Thompson.

At the same meeting of the Selectmen there were a number of grants of land and as will be seen by the following a movement made to get back lands which had been illegally taken.

"There has been past a vote that it is left to the Selectmen who have legal power to preserve the Town's interest that all such persons as have fenced in and improved any of the Town land are to repair to the Selectmen at the next meeting to treat with them concerning it or else such fences upon the Town Commons will be pulled down that there may no longer be wronged of the people's rights and interests."

Capt. Holbrook, Lieut. Whitman, Lieut. Joseph Pratt, senior, Wm. Reed, Joseph Green, John Rogers & Capt. Hunt were added to the Selectmen as a committee to relocate the roads in Town and in 1693 there was much done for roads, and among the land damages granted was to the liberty of the river in the Town Commons in a place called the blades mill to set up a falling mill and to take one acre of land. It was voted that all Town ways should be palisades wide.

John Rogers was the Representative to the General Court in 1693 and for 5 days service he was paid 14 10s.

Town meeting November, 1693.—The Town passed a vote that the Selectmen prepare and present in writing such by-laws and orders which concern the procedural affairs of the Town into the Court to be held in Boston to be by such court approved."

At the Town meeting in Nov. 1691 it was voted to have five selectmen and Capt. Ephraim Hunt, Lieut. White, Wm. Reed, Joseph & Edward Bates were elected by "written vote."

The following document presented at this meeting speaks of a long pastorate:

"Know all men that I Samuel Torrey do for myself and for my heirs, executors & Administrators fully acquit and forever discharge the church & people of Weymouth from all dues & demands upon account of my ministry with them from the year 1691 until the 24th of March 1693."

At a meeting held July, 1694, Major Ephraim Hunt, Capt. John Holbrook, Elijah White, senior, John Rogers & Edward Bates were elected as a board of assessors to work in connection with the Selectmen in making Rates and also to protect the Town from unjust County Rates.

As a matter of fact, no one can cure eight here in our own neighborhood that we feel warranted in saying we will refund the purchase price to any one not obtaining relief after a fair trial. Five cents a box at.

This burglary was a little out of the ordinary as silverware and other valuable were demolished, and clothes, handkerchiefs, a couple of clocks and a few other small articles were the things wanted and taken.

MASS., AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

FRIDAY, JAN. 10, 1908.

In distributing hours, Speaker Cole was very kind to the Representative from the 7th Norfolk District, Russell B.
Worster, giving him the chairmanship of the Committee of Fisheries and Game,
No. 2 of Committee on Counties, and re-appointing him as monitor in the 2d division along with which goes one of the best seats in the house.

The holiday vacation of Congress ended last week and both branches settled down to business. A banking and financial system which will avoid a repetition of the condition which prevailed a few months ago will be sought after, and Hon. John W. Weeks of the 12th Mass. District, and the best posted man of the Committee on Banking and Currency, will no doubt evolve a way out of the difficulty.

By a recent death and litigation on the part of heirs of the deceased for possession of her money in bank and other property, Amesbury discovers that it has been contributing to a somewhat liberal bank account. No deserving person should be allowed to suffer for the expenses of life in a land of plenty, but there are other places than Amesbury where the confidence of Selectmen and overseers of the Poor is abused, and Town Reports show large expenditures which were made in good confidence but not deserved.

The National Republican Convention will be held in Chicago in June, and at first thought it might seem that Secretary Taft is assured the front as the next President, but up to date he is far short of the requisite number of votes.

There will be 980 delegates in the convention and the winner must have a least 491. Mr. Taft's most sanguine friends now count on but about half of that number.
Illinois will be in the convention with its 54 votes for her favorite son, the strong Speaker Cannon; Indiana will cast its 30 votes for Vice-President Fairbanks;
New York's 75 votes will probably go for Governor Hughes; Pennsylvania will cast its 68 votes for a son of the Pan Handle state; and that the convention will be divided on the first ballot, and where will Massachusetts be? The Old Bay State will have the best show it has had in the last half century, and the man to push to the front with our 32 votes as a rallying point is Senator Crane, for when the break comes he will be a vote getter with more than an even chance to win.

Annual Meeting of the Union Church, South Weymouth.

The Union church last Thursday evening held its annual meeting with a large number of its members present. Nearly one hundred sat down to the tables at sixty to the bountiful supper which the Parish visitors under the direction of Mrs.
F. W. Loup had provided.

After supper reports from the various departments of the church were read and were all hopeful and optimistic. During the year the church has lost four members by death and has received twelve into its membership making the numbers on the roll at the present time 173.

The Sunday School reported increased attendance and greater efficiency through more careful grading. The primary department, under the charge of Mrs. L. A.
Cook, is one of the best in the country and the home numbers over 60.

The ladies' aid circle during the past year has raised nearly $600. The King's Guild has enlisted nearly all our young ladies in various forms of helpful work.
The Boys' club, through the kindness of some of the men of the parish, has at an expense of nearly four hundred dollars fitted the room over the vestry for a gymnasium. The Y. P. S. C. E., the Ladies' Missionary society and the Union club also made reports.

The pastor spoke of the members of the church who had passed away, and in their memory the hymn "For all the saints who from their labors rest" was sung.

At the election of officers Orrin Bates was chosen deacon; H. S. Stowers, superintendent of Sunday School; Webster
Loud, clerk; John F. Vining, treasurer;
Walter Field, auditor.

Rev. L. W. Attwood, pastor of the Universalist church, was the guest of the evening and spoke some most friendly and inspiring words. The meeting closed with singing "God be with you till we meet again."

Dorothea L. Dix Tent, No. 32.

Last Thursday evening the officers of Dorothea L. Dix Tent 32, Daughters of Veterans, were installed by Miss Nina A.
Littlefield P. D. P. and suite of 10 from tion from Post 58 & A. R. and the other patriotic orders. The following officers rue; S. V. president, Helen M. Hayes; J. V. president, Edith A. Williams; trustees, Clara L. Beard, Isobel Carter, Hannah W. Barnes; treasurer, Gertrude L.

ence Loring; patriotic instructor, Mary E. Brassill; guard, Ida M. Farrington; asst. guard, Anna B. Williams; musical, Faunie P. Pratt; color bearers, Ida B. Carter, Lillian L. Loud, Margaret L. Looney, Cora L. Loring. After the installation a beautiful clock was presented by Miss Jane P. Maynard in appreciation of her work the last year as president, a 5 o'clock tea service was given, and interactive remarks were made by Mrs. Littlefield Commander Turner of Post 58 & A. R.

President, Mrs. Clara Loring of W. B. C.
109, J. V. C. George Walker of Camp 36
S. V. Miss Martha Bayard of V. Auxiliary No. 31. The G. A. R. quartette sang several selections which were heartily encored. A lunch was served by Sisters Barnes, Brassill and McCue after which a social hour was enjoyed by all.
The Tent starts the new year with an indication of prosperity.

WEYMOUTH HISTORY. AND TRANSCRIPT

An Abstract of Town Records
From the Earliest Settlement.

CHAPTER XVIII.

The size of town meetings in Weymouth two hundred years ago may be estimated by the vote cast at the annual meeting held March 20, 1696.

Major Hunt was elected moderator and the meeting proceeded to ballot for Selectmen and the elected ones were Edward Miles, the two voted, Lieut. White & Maj. Hunt;
Joseph Dyer and Maj. Reed & Maj. Hunt;

each.

A new town history seems to have come to life this year in the person of John Clegg, who was elected Town Clerk. The town voted to employ a schoolmaster, and the Selectmen were authorized to raise his salary by polls & Estates the same as they do other town Charges, and John Clegg was employed at a salary of thirty pounds.

Voted to build a new pound at some convenient point to be selected by the Selectmen and Maj. Ephraim Hunt was authorized to sell the land on which the old pound was located, at the rate of 10 per acre.

Aug. 12, 1696, delivered to Carnet
White the town's stock of powder, bullets and flints, viz. 22 pounds of powder, 271 pounds and a half of bullets, 625 lbs.
and with the said White to secure the stock and what may be sold to it by the Town for ten shillings in money a year annually as long as the stock shall be kept by him.

At this August meeting the Selectmen acting as assessors, made the following rate: One hundred, seventy-six pounds; Maintenance of Minister, 100, 16s. in goods, or six in money. Town Rate, 112s. in Town Pay.

The town was without a school master for the winter term of 1697 and Joseph Dyer and Edward Bates were employed to instruct children to read and write and cipher from the 2d of January to the next March meeting. Joseph Dyer to teach at the Town's schoolhouse and Edward Bates at his own home, and all scholars from Thomas Porter's up shall go to Edward Bates and the rest of the Town to Joseph Dyer. And we have ordered John King to be helpful to Joseph Dyer in that work to teach and instruct the children and youth that shall come to him.

March meeting, 1698, Mayor Hunt,
Moderator; Sgt. Pratt, Samuel Humphrey Jr., John Bicknell, John Richards and Stephen French elected Selectmen.

"Voted that Rev. Sam'l Tarry shall have his salary out of the town Treasury twelve pounds in money."

"Voted that John Torrey, Tanner, for the encouragement of his business, shall have two poles of land joining to his father's lot, out of the Town Commons so as to have a back door for his house."

"Resistances, of course, useless for a man who is blinded by the speaking to light a cigarette, but probably to reveal the gleam of fire arms in every man's belt. They numbered more than twenty, we only three and one of our number half stu-pified with drink and tobacco."

"There is a lot of good pleasure, and having reached the barrier, obviously placed there by themselves, the robbers fled as rapidly and silently as they had appeared on the scene."

AN EVENING ATTACK.

The Easy Way Travelers Are Held Up
in Savage Europe.

The Balkans can boast of cities which are miniature replicas of London and Paris, declares Mr. Harry De Windt, the author of "Savage Savage Europe." These are charming cities, but the smaller districts are as muddy, where you must travel with a revolver in each pocket and your life in your hand, and of this fact Mr. De Windt had unpleasant proof.

In the district called Tavnik an old Turk used to pass the night at a roadside inn. Falling to persuade us that the old fellow disappeared and so effectively plied our driver with schnapps that he could not sit up on the box until it was time to start.

But the game little team dashed along and must have covered about a mile when there came a violent lurch, followed by a crash, and I found myself in the dusty road within a minute.
So impetuously active from hosts, the Turk had been buried by the sheep when the horses had been driven through dense pine forest.

MAGIC IN MOROCCO.

Charms and Spells That Are Used by Moorish Women.

Mrs. Mansel-Pleydell writes of the curious charms used by the women of Morocco: "Moorish women resort much to charms to govern others or to keep them affected when married to a man, one which is seldom known to fail. It consists of shredding a small piece of an undergarment which the man has worn and, after certain incantations have been said over it, of rolling the particles into the shape of a small ball. This is embedded in a large ball of quicksand being slightly damped, it is kept in a pot over the embers of live charcoal.

"I have been assured that as soon as the heat penetrates the clay the man, whoever he may be, will lay aside whatever he is doing at the time and turn his thoughts to the woman who is in his arms.

"Another spell much resorted to is made by cutting off the tips of a donkey's ears, cooking them and mixing them in the man's food. He then becomes as foolish as a donkey, by love for the charmer who has provided his unsavory repast." — Chicago News.

Bewitched by a Blond Fairy.

By LESTER ROSE.

Copyright, 1907, by Homer Sprague.

Under ordinary circumstances the trip across the Atlantic would have been quiet indeed. The eastbound traffic was light, and most of it went to the newer and faster boats. There were less than four score passengers in the first cabin, and Dorsay Adams looked forward to a long, slow trip with Nell.

For more than a year Dorsay had sought to win Nell's hand and with fair prospect of eventual success. When he heard that the family was going to Europe for the winter he planned to take the same boat, and the wishful pleasure with which Nell greeted the announcement greatly cheered the anxious Adams.

But the boat had not reached the banks before the course of true love showed its customary waywardness, and the two, a careful steward and a sympathetic steerswoman helped the exhausted girl to the deck and comfortably installed her in a deck chair where Dorsay presently found her.

Dorsay seated himself on a stool beside her chair and prodded the fire. "I am improving the mystery of the boat," he said, "but the more I look at you the more I like you."

So Dorsay said to himself, "I must be some mystery to the world after all."

"I was wrong," confessed Miss Sommers. "You know I am bewitched by a blond fairy."

"That's it," cried Dorsay. "It must be a blond, and you will have to help me exorcise the spirit."

"How?" asked Miss Sommers wonderingly. "I am not versed in the casting out of spirits."

"Make me proof against their charms by marrying me," he explained. "Will you do that?"

"I think I shall have to," said Nell softly as the moon dimly wended westward.

"I was right that evening that Adams and Greyson sat together in a corner of the smoking room.

"I am to the spirit of the blond bewitcher," said the spirit of the blond bewitcher, "and your long life and happiness to the happy pair. I'm glad that I helped to straighten out the trouble even though it did cost me my very best sample of the wonderful effects of Harry's hair's beauty. It's wonderful stuff, and it's bound to bring me lots of good feelings."

It was a hard job, though, to plant all those hairs without the victim finding out the trick and spoiling it all."

An Exalted Yawn.

"When I went to church last Sunday," said a young man visiting the smoking room except for a few minutes on deck just before I turned in. "I was alone all the evening."

"To go and perch on your other shoulder," said Miss Sommers coolly. "I hate a man who does not tell the truth. Therefore I hate you. Please tell me what he was doing?"

Dorsay went, miserably enough, while Nell Sommers sank back in her steamer chair lost in thought, and it seemed to the quick that she had spent the evening flirting with the little soubrette, while she herself lay in her berth, vainly wishing the ship would run aground if only the awful rolling of the vessel might stop.

Dorsay, manlike, made for the head of the bunk, and the companionably lounge'd one of the men who had been engaged in a poker game the night before. Now his face was wreathed in smiles as he followed the miserable lover to the deck below.

"I see you were caught with the goods," he said, with a laugh, as Adams lay in his berth.

"I'm not trying to rub it in," he continued. "I hate a man who does not tell the truth. Therefore I hate you. Please tell me what he was doing?"

"A lot of good it would do to say that," said the soubrette with a smile.

"She would simply declare that I was getting you up in an unorthodox way for her own ends," said Miss Sommers coolly.

There was real friendliness in the two, though they planned to meet again.

"I'm not trying to rub it in," he continued. "I hate a man who does not tell the truth. Therefore I hate you. Please tell me what he was doing?"

"I'm not trying to rub it in," said Miss Sommers coolly.

FRIDAY, JAN. 17, 1908.

The recently installed Mayor of one of our new and enterprising cities finds himself confronted with a large bonded indebtedness and asks "which shall we have a large tax rate or refund the bonds?" "Refund the bonds" is easy to say and possibly can be done, but it simply means putting off the day of agony and piling up the interest. Refunded bonds do not pay the bill. However unpleasant it may be, face the music, pile up the tax rate, but don't let it again. Cut out the extras until you can afford them and this applies to Weymouth as well as to the city in question.

"It will be a square issue of reducing appropriations to a figure which can be met with a fair tax rate. This means retrenchment all along the line and not in any particular direction."

The above from the Natick Bulletin is substantially what may be found in nearly all our exchanges as cities begin the new year or approach their annual meeting. It is the "old, old story" debt larger than we expected, over-purchased measures passed without careful consideration, "old" the odds or city or town will pay for it, when as a matter of fact in paying bills there is no city or town getting right down to hard pan, the individual tax payer has to put his hand in his pocket and it is time for the majority to hold up their hands and be counted.

TRROUBLES OF MARRIED LIFE.

Once upon a time Quincy had a senator on Broad Street, whose shirt front and its illuminations far outshone the dome. The other day he ventured on the sea of matrimony for the second time. His name is Sprague. In the excitement attending the matrimonial function he left his house without taking the keys with him. He returned to his home and when he reached the front door he searched pocket after pocket without finding his keys. The doors would not respond to anything save an axe, and the ex-senator was not ready to go as far as that. After negotiating with all the doors that he thought would let go, Sprague succeeded in getting in through a window and welcoming "his newly-wed" at the door. While the senator was busy, one of the neighbors started the cry of "burglars," and it spread all around the town, so that several of the neighbors who had telephones all tried to connect with the police department and the fire department, and a squad of firemen, with revolver, clubs and pointed wagons, came along and inspired into the big noise. After hearing the bells of the Sprague mansion the statesman came to the door and demanded to know what all the tumult was about. When told that the police were looking for burglars, the statesman turned pale, and indignant, and said that no burglar had been committed, unless it was that he had won a woman's heart—Practical Politics.

Jurors.

For the first time in many years the usual jury list will be missed from our bulletin boards, town warrants and town reports. The law passed by the last Legislature, and which became operative last July, takes the making of that list from the Selectmen and places it in the hands of the Board of Registrars, and it is to be done before the first of July, and following are some of the conditions:

SECTION 2. When being a registrar of voters or an election commissioner, shall not cause to be put upon the jury list the name of any person for any reason other than his judgment in good faith of the qualifications and fitness of such person for such jury service shall be punished by imprisonment in the jail or house of correction for a term not exceeding one year or by the not exceeding five hundred dollars, and the non-performance of the requirements of section one of this act by such registrar or commissioner shall be sufficient ground for his removal from office.

SECTION 3. Whoever shall in any manner solicit or request an election commissioner or registrar of voters to put upon a jury list the name of the person so soliciting or requesting, or the name of any other person, shall be punished by imprisonment in the house of correction for a term not exceeding one year, or by fine not exceeding five hundred dollars.

SECTION 4. If any question concerning the preparation of said jury list arises, as to which the election commissioners are equally divided, it shall be referred to the trial court of the judicial court of the city of Boston, or, in case of his absence or disability, to the senior justice of said court, and his decision on the question shall be final.

SECTION 5. Chapter one hundred and seventy-six of the Revised Laws is hereby amended by striking out section five and inserting in place thereof, the following: Section 5. Jury lists prepared as above provided shall, before the first day of August of each year, be printed with the address and occupation of each juror, and a copy thereof shall be delivered to the mayor or selectmen and to the clerk of the city or town to which such list relates, and to the clerks and assistant clerks of the supreme judicial and superior courts in the county in which such city or town is situated, to be by said clerks and assistant clerks kept for the use of said courts.

The Daughters of the Revolution
The regular monthly meeting of the Abigail Smith Chapter D. R. was held on Wednesday afternoon Jan. 16th, 1908, at the home of Mrs. John M. Cushing. The weather being favorable, members from all parts of the town were in attendance.

The burial place of several more soldiers of the Revolution have been identified, making about one hundred and nine graves to be decorated by the Chapter upon Memorial Day.

Plans for a celebration of the approaching decennial anniversary of the formation of the Chapter were proposed and discussed. A pleasant letter from one of our members, acknowledging the gift which the Chapter sent to her at Christmas time, was read and appreciated.

WEYMOUTH HISTORY.
An Abstract of Town Records
From the Earliest Settlement.

CHAPTER XIX

Dec. 12th 1659.—Concluded by the Selectmen and committed that there be five women agreed with in the several parts of the Town to teach school from the last of March until the last of September and that they shall have twenty-five shillings apiece to defray their expenses. The town's Rate before what time was paid by the children to the school and paid by the town which is to be the usual sum.

The committee further agreed with Edward Bates and John Torrey to teach school from December to March, Mr. Torrey to teach in the Towns School House and Mr. Bates at his own home.

Annual March meeting (1700). The usual boards of officers were elected and as usual quite a number of assignments of land in small lots to different parties.

The real business of the day was a discussion of the boundary line between Weymouth and Braintree which had always been in dispute and a committee was appointed to meet a similar committee from Braintree and try to locate the proper line.

The school question was the only one of importance at the March meeting in 1701 and we find the following:

"After much debate about settling a School in Weymouth they, at length, chose Lieut. Nash, Wm. Hunt, Surgt. Thomas Read, Wm. Torrey, Joseph Green, Samuel Andrews & Wm. Petty to be a committee to treat with persons and settle a school master according to law in the Town of Weymouth for the year ensuing."

The committee later reported:

"Have treated with Samuel Hunt for one whole year from the 15th of October until the full time of a year for thirty five pounds in or as money."

The town rate for 1702 was 10s 10d and the selectmen acting as assessors divided the town into two districts and committed the First for the First District to Capt. Nathaniel Shaw 10s 9d. The Second District to Joseph Nash 10s 10d.

At this meeting Captain Thomas French was elected to represent the town in a Great and General Court to be held in Boston on the 15th of November.

Enforced military regulation in regard to cutting down no trees, came up and the officers of people were fined for trespassing upon what was known as the milchman's woodland.

Military matters were a disturbing element in 1703 and 1704, and the town defaulted in furnishing troops as called for by the general government, and Col. Hunt was consigned by his Excellency, and Col. Hobbs was dispatched from Boston with ten men of the guards with orders to make a draft of twenty men from Weymouth.

At this meeting it was voted to build a new barn for the Pastor and he donated a balance of 20d which was due him on square toward the object.

Enforced military regulation in regard to cutting down no trees, came up and the officers of people were fined for trespassing upon what was known as the milchman's woodland.

It was also voted that any person purchasing sheep or rams for others than residents of the town should pay a fine of five shillings for every sheep or ram so purchased.

It was also voted to pay a sum of ten shillings for every wolf killed in town.

At the March meeting in 1707 it was voted by the town to grant 5d to encourage Women's Schools and to pay 20s each to the Women to teach.

At this meeting the following order was drawn:

"To the Selectmen of Weymouth, Greeting: You are hereby desired to pay to Thomas Thurston twenty-five pounds in money at fifteen pence which we the committee of Weymouth have agreed to pay to said Thurston for keeping of the Schools of Weymouth."

Community Improvement.

In a community where all or nearly all house owners civic improvement is never a very serious problem, but in every center of population, no matter of what size, there are more or less of rent, and these have a deterrent effect upon progress in all its phases, says the Los Angeles Times. Permanency of residence is the only solid rock upon which desirable public improvements may be built, and a group of cottagers will do more good toward civic upbuilding than the number of wealthy tenants. Those who have a fixed abode will add little to the cost of civic improvement.

Next to permanency of abode comes the standard of citizenship, and the two so intrinsically related that it is often difficult to determine which is the more important factor, for each is dependent on the other. Another inseparable and necessary part of a community is found in high intelligence and lofty ideals as the standard of citizenship.

It is necessary to secure zealous cooperation of all the higher and best to be attained. Efficient, honest citizens, free from partisan leanings and without either religious nor radical differences, are the broad minded type that must be chosen for public work if we are to be safeguarded against mismanagement and partiality.

WINTER BIRDS.

By Faye M. Hartley.
The day is dark, and the snow comes down.
Finally out of a sullen sky.
"I'm happy, and has no thought to day."
She swings on a sunflower's withered head,
And says, "I'm happy, and has no thought to day."
"Cheer cheer! Cheer cheer! And the bird has died."
And the life is gone from the swaying weeds.

Three small crows in a tiny line.
Waver about the pond's cold head.

Reach through the frosty crust to drink.
The snowflakes powder their coal-black wings,
"I'm happy, and has no thought to day."
"Cheer cheer! Cheer cheer! Their silent greeting rings.

From branch to branch of the apple tree,
The day is dark, and the snow comes down.
"I'm happy, and has no thought to day."
"Cheer cheer! Cheer cheer! Their silent greeting rings.

FRIDAY, JAN. 31, 1908.

Norfolk and Pilgrim Branch, W. B. M.

An interesting meeting of the Norfolk and Pilgrim Branch, W. B. M. was held in the First Congregational church of Braintree on Tuesday. The morning session was devoted to the reports of various officers and of the meeting at Worcester in November. A social hour in basket lunch was enjoyed at noon. In the afternoon, the devotional exercises were led by Rev. Mr. Sims, pastor of the entertaining church. A complete solo by Miss Eleanor Shaw was greatly enjoyed. Mrs. Alfred Wright gave a very interesting address on the missionary work in Mexico, owing to the absence of the president, Mrs. Charles T. Crane, was in charge of the meeting for the day.

Mrs. Sarah Cain Dead.

After several months of declining health attended upon advanced age, Mrs. Sarah Cain, widow of Stephen Cain, passed away Wednesday morning at the home of her son Leonard on Bates Avenue, East Weymouth.

Mrs. Cain was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Bice and had reached the advanced age of 80 years and 6 months. She married Mr. Cain in the early forties of the last century and they lived together to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage.

Mrs. Cain leaves a son Leonard, with whom she has lived the past year; daughter, Mrs. Thomas Burgoine; several grandchildren and great grand children.

Deceased for more than sixty years was a member of the Congregational church in East Weymouth and the funeral services will be held at that church tomorrow, Saturday, afternoon at 2 o'clock.

In Memoriam.

Departed this life at Weymouth, on the 23d inst., Lester M. Clark in his 88th year.

It is only within the last few years that the writer has had the privilege of knowing Mr. Clark and these were the years of rest consigned to a man who had spent his active life bearing the burden of financial responsibilities and who had been well known to the merchants and bankers of Boston, New York and New Orleans. These last years were spent in the home of his daughters in Weymouth and his last hours where he always seemed the most honored and most welcome guest.

One who had lived so long and so busily, who had seen life from many points of view as others might, to the day of his death, was actively interested in current events, while his memory was rich with anecdotes and personal reminiscences. He was easily an entertaining companion; but Mr. Clark was also a lover of good books and upon occasion could quote from them at length and to the point.

To his fellow men our departed friend was uniformly courteous and in his association with the fair sex he always exhibited a certain courtly gallantry that compared well with the distinguished personal appearance and the knightly bearing that made him so notable an example of a gentleman of the old school.

Mr. Clark was a man of strong religious convictions and a student of the Bible and of thoughtful books upon sacred themes, but he was no bigot and he had an abounding charity for all who strove, by any path, to follow in the Master's footsteps.
